

Some of the people who are saying good-bye: Eric Wedig (above); Juana Debengoechea (right); Mayo Galindo (far right); Gabby Rogers (upper right).

University of Texas Health Science Center Dallas
John Scott III
University of Texas at Dallas
Bennett (Sandy) Vaculik
Dental School

ate study in drama at the University of Portland.
Mary Frances Sprinkle
Tuition scholarship and theater assistantship for graduate study in drama at the University of Portland.
Full tuition scholarship for graduate study in theater with the Trinity University M.F.A. Program at the Dallas Theater.
Accepted to the graduate program in Drama at the University of Texas in Austin.
Patrick Donoghue
Graduate Teaching Fellowship in the Physics Department at Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri.
He was offered also a Research Assistantship in the

Honorary Doctorates Awarded To Three

The University of Dallas will confer honorary doctorate degrees upon three distinguished Americans in its commencement exercises Sunday, May 16.

The honorary doctorate will be presented to the following: O'Neil Ford, architect, Doctorate of Fine Arts. Ford, 70, more than any other architect of his era, has influenced architecture in the Southern and Southwestern United States.

Caroline Gordon, novelist, Doctorate of Humane Letters. Renowned as an author and as an educator in literature, Caroline Gordon is regarded as one of the three foremost Southern authors of her generation. She is 80.

Cecil H. Green, geophysicist, civic leader, philanthro-

Lutenbacher Receives Heller Maberry Award

Lynne Lutenbacher, a senior history major, has been named the 1976 recipient of the Ann Heller Maberry Award.

The Ann Heller Maberry Award is presented each spring to an outstanding UD senior woman who has distinguished herself in academics as well as in other facets of campus life.

pist, Doctorate of Civil Laws. Green, one of the pioneer principals of Texas Instruments, Inc., has been a leader in the development of our nation's natural resources.

Miss Lutenbacher is a member of Student Foundation and has been named to the Dean's List at UD multiple times. Her major area of scholastic interest is early American history, and she has worked as a student assistant for Dr. June Welch, chairman of the history department at UD.

Graduation Announcement

The President's Reception honoring graduating students and their parents will be on Saturday, May 15, from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. in the Central Court of Haggar Center.

Baccalaureate Mass will be on Sunday, May 16, in the Maher Athletic Center, followed by a buffet lunch served in the dining room of Haggar Center from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

The commencement exercises will conclude with Graduation at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, May 16, in Maher Athletic Center.

Alternative Hires Duggan

Joseph Duggan, a senior in classics graduating this month, will join the full-time staff of The Alternative magazine June 1. Duggan will succeed Adam Meyerson as managing editor.

The Alternative is a monthly journal publishing articles on public policy and literary reviews. Its offices are located in Bloomington, Indiana.