Tempo

June 13 1986
Vol. 9., No. 11

Don't worry. You are not completely crazy. This is NOT a Monday, but it is Friday 13th. Be careful out there! TEMPO is early this time because volunteers are desperately needed to form a HUMAN CHAIN in the library to move books downstairs Monday, June 16. Bring your kids, grandparents, neighbors and anyone else who will help. You are needed for a four-hour shift, 8 to 12, or 1 to 5. Refreshments will be served during a break in each shift. Please sign up in the library today.

GSM DEAN SAUL GELLERMAN's article, "Why 'Good' Managers Make Bad Ethical Choices," will be published in the July Harvard Business Review.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN will meet June 25 in Gorman Faculty Lounge, noon.

The Administrative Shuffle--KATIE CARROLL has replaced BETH DOUGHERTY as Haggar Center director. BETH is now in the library. LINDA DERDEYN is the new administrative assistant in Student Life. Mark these changes in your directory: Katie, 5027, and Linda, 5323.

Final GSM enrollment figures for summer are great, with an all-time high of 1,110 students taking 6,120 credit hours. That is 116 more students than last year.

BRUCE EVANS, GSM associate professor, will speak at the American Insurance Alliance annual conference in Arlington, Va. June 23-24.

The Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train will make its only stop in Dallas County Saturday, June 28. It will arrive at Valley Ranch in north Irving at approximately 2:15 p.m. The wagons will be greeted by several youth organizations, including the Boy Scouts of America, public officials, and citizens from surrounding communities. There will be food and drink available, the proceeds from which will contribute to such Irving projects as Heritage Park. Beginning at 6 p.m., there will be flag ceremonies and professional entertainment, including an 8 p.m. concert by Charley Pride. The Irving Sesquicentennial Committee, chaired by JOE RICE, University Relations director, is headquartered at UD. The committee expects crowds of 30,000 to 100,000 for the day. Attached is a map of the campsite. Everyone is invited.

Deadline for next TEMPO is July 3.
