

notes from ud

April 1-15 -- "The Winner's Open," a collection of works of former winners of UD's annual high school exhibition to run concurrently with the 20th annual High School Show. University Gallery, Haggar Center. Hours are from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Monday through Friday and 12 noon-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

April 2 -- "Kathleen NiHoulihan: A Woe-Bedraggled Goddess," a study of dramatic and lyrical feminine images in the literature and traditions of Ireland presently by Father Thomas Carroll, Irish theologian. The lecture is part of the "Contemporary Woman Series" that offers today's woman an opportunity to explore herself through universal images in literature. 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m., Upstairs Haggar. Further information is available through the Community Education Department at 438-1123, ext. 223.

April 4 -- "The Pacemaker at the Heart of the City," a psychological approach to hurry presented by Jungian psychologist and visiting professor of psychology, Dr. James Hillman. The series explored the evolution of our essential values and how they influence the operation of today's modern cities. 7:30-9:30 p.m., Haggar Meeting Room. Further information available from 438-1123, ext. 223.

April 6 -- "Imagining Dallas," a seminar on the city sponsored by the Center for Civic Leadership featuring authorities with practical experience in issues confronting cities today. Open to all interested persons. 9 a.m.-3 p.m., Upstairs Haggar. Further information may be obtained through 438-1123, ext. 224.

April 18-21, 24-28 -- Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," presented by the UD drama department. 8 p.m., Margaret Jonsson Theater. For reservations and ticket information, call 438-1123, ext. 314.

April 19 -- "Helen Corbett Lecture in Excellence," the first of a series of lectures to memorialize the late Helen Corbett, former director of Neiman-Marcus' food services and the author of best-selling cookbooks. John W. Gardner, founder of Common Cause, an organization developed to lobby for the interests of the American citizen, will be the guest lecturer. 8 p.m., Lynch Hall. Additional information may be obtained from 438-1123, ext. 224.

April 22 -- "Conversations in Music: The Piano Trio," a program featuring the works of Beethoven and Schubert performed by the UD Faculty Trio. The program is part of a series of chamber music concerts designed to expose new musical horizons for the entire family. The program benefits the Gifted Students Institute for Research and Development, a non-profit educational organization established to enhance and cultivate gifted and talented students. 2-3 p.m., Gorman Faculty Lounge. Ticket information available from 438-1123, ext. 384.